

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A high efficiency amplifier has an analog predistortion circuit (5) connected between an input side dividing circuit (2) and a quarter-wave line (6). This offers an advantage of 5 being able to improve the linearity of the entire amplifier because the nonlinear distortion of a peak amplifier (7) is compensated.